

*The world calls
them its singers and poets and artists and storytellers; but they are just people who have never forgotten
the way to fairyland.*

L.M. Montgomery, Anne of Green Gables